FOREWORD

We treasure the memories of our high school life and realize that they will become even more priceless to us through the years. Perhaps, through the pages of this volume of Renocahi, we can portray to others and can keep for ourselves some of our most valued memories.

REIDSVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

D E D I C A T I O N

Her interest, encouragement, and understanding have endeared her to us more and more each year. Her friendly smile is treasured by us as one of the dearest memories of our high school life. It is with sincere appreciation and love that we dedicate the 1939 RENOCAH to Miss Kate Conley.

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

Commencement to you means the finishing of your high school career. But Commencement also means the beginning of a new life. Those of you who will not go to college will immediately find yourself in a new world with new objectives and new responsibilities. Those of you who do pursue your book learning further will also find many things different. You will find more liberty of thought and actions; and also more responsibility for your own actions. When you have finished high school the world looks upon you no longer as boys and girls but as young men and young women. It is the hope of the school that you have acquired during your years in Public School a background of resourcefulness that will enable you to find a place of growth and service in a growing civilization.

CLASS POEM

Now that our task is completed and the finishing touches done,
Our minds, in reverie, wonder back to those days of work and fun.
Fun? Yes, fun—for you, for me, for all,
Fun amid our struggles, our trials—fought and won.
And of work, we had our share—but ne'er from duty shrank—
Nor saw a load too large to bore—a chore too small to meet.

And now, a new world offers challenge,
To each, a new world unfolds.
Unfolds in magic splendor—its opportunities, unforetold!
But no matter what the future—we'll work and do our best.
And all thru' life we'll remember our school days at R. H. S.

CLAUDE GEORGE.

CLASS HISTORY

"We the Historians of 1939, face a very difficult task in recollecting the history of the past five years of this Senior Class. We wish that someone would help us."

"I will aid you in recollecting your past," replied the Spirit of History. "The story of your past five years in High School can easily be compared to the five Great Empires of the World. I raise my scepter. You now are in the Land of History."

The Egyptian Empire was the first of the five. When your class entered the eighth grade, you started into an unexplored world. You started out with a comparatively simple procedure. During the whole grade, you made one great contribution to progress. This consisted of a firm foundation. You took the regular courses and mastered them. Teaching Helen McCollum enough Latin to pass the course could be classed along with the Pyramids as a "Wonder of the World." The Egyptians liked athletic sports and so did you. "Buck" Groff seemed to lead the boys in football and baseball. Betsy Lee Moyberry and Lucy Kiker took the honors for the girls. You were thrilled when Syble Ellington, the Cleopatra of your class, won the High School Beauty Contest.

The Grecian Empire followed the Egyptian. The Greeks favored compulsory athletics. For two years both boys and girls had compulsory gym periods. It was during this year that your class took a great interest in romance. Tom Fitz was your Paris and Frances Lee Faucette your Helen of Troy. Like Alexander the Great you conquered your foreign problems, in your case, Latin and ancient history. The ninth graders, like the ancient Greeks, enjoyed drama and the producing of plays. Your original contribution was the presentation of the mock faculty. You should remember Betty Throckmorton's portrayal of Miss Moffit, Margaret Jones as Miss Mecum, and Jimmy Waynick as Mr. Leggette. In concluding this great Grecian Empire we might say that our algebraic knowledge could be compared to that of Euclid, the Greek discoverer of quadratic equation.

The Roman Empire reached a high peak. It profited by the learnings and mistakes of the Egyptians and Greeks. In the tenth grade the class built on the foundation laid in the previous years. They learned to abide by the rules of the school, and to profit by errors made beforehand. At the end of this year you Romans believed in athletics but seemed to favor professionals. Likewise in the tenth grade after the passing of compulsory gym periods, the boys and girls began to work mainly upon one particular sport, some basketball, some football. Our modern Mark Anthonys, Claude George and Margaret Jones, made the debating team this year.

The Romans liked feasting, and music. Your first Junior-Senior banquet was the social highlight of this year. Boy! Could Jelly Cook put that chicken away. Surely you remember Rodford's solo to his lady love "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

At the close of the year the juniors took a very important part in the commencement exercises. The marshals were, Elizabeth Mitchell, C. L. Saunders, Margaret Jones, Betsy Lee Mayberry, Lucy Kiker, Genie McDonald and Frances Lee Faucette.

Like the fall of Rome, dramatic Betty Throckmorton slipped from the stage steps with a garland of ivy and roses trailing over her shoulder.

The European civilization was far greater and more powerful than any preceding it. During this empire people began a specialization. They branched off into many different fields, unknown before. In the eleventh grade the students in your class began to specialize in certain subjects preparing for future necessity. Many new fields were opened. Manual training was introduced, and your school had a new work shop. Many of the students thought that they had reached their Waterloo when there were various and frequent explosions in the Chemistry lab. Genie McDonald and Mary Jane Robinson like Beethoven and Bach strove onward with their music courses. You had your Leonardo de Vinci's in the persons of Jett Osbourne, Lois Simon and Helen Small. Student organization was introduced into your school this year. Many members of your class took active parts in its careful planning and carrying out. The student organization sponsored issuing of your high school paper "The RENOCAHI."

Of course you are most interested in the American civilization. This is the highest civilization ever reached and it has greatly overshadowed that of the European. In the twelfth grade we made the final preparations for our future. The turmoil that goes with present day elections could be compared to our selection of officers, superlatives, and annual and newspaper staffs. Many of the students who hold high offices in the school are from our class: President of Student Organization, C. L. Saunders; President of Senior Class, Elizabeth Mitchell; Publication Chief of School Paper, Claude George; Editor in Chief of School Paper, John McGehee; President of Debator's Club, Margaret Jones; President of Dramatic Club, Betsy Lee Mayberry; President of Hi-Y, Tom Fitz; President of Young Tar Heel Farmers Chapter, Curtis Fitts; President of Band, Charles Scoggins; Captain of football team, G. W. Burgess; Captains of basketball teams, Marie McAdams and Buck Groff; Co-Captain of baseball team, Burnelle Cook. Everyone enjoyed the Junior-Senior banquet this year very much. Another important event was the basketball tournament in which our boys won first place, and the girls second place.

Many personalities developed during the years spent in High School. You have your own Martha Raye, Miss Billie Betts, who gives lessons on "Love at Demand." Next on your list is Benny Goodman Lewis and his swingaroos clarinet. Margaret Byrd as Jennette McDonald and Claude George as Gene Autry show great talent.

"Spirit of History, we the historians, thank you for showing us the history of our past school life. May we in later years, look back upon this as the best part of our life."

C. L. SAUNDERS,
MARY JANE ROBINSON, Historians.

CLASS PROPHECY

It was fifteen minutes before time for my classmates to arrive at Ye Old Tavern for our class reunion, but I hurried over to meet the proprietor, C. L. Sounders, and our hostess and former president, Elizabeth Mitchell.

As I hurried along the street, I met Jimmie Waynick, whom I recognized as the famous electrician whose inventions were making him a national hero. Jimmie told me that he would demonstrate his latest invention, the photoscope, for the entertainment of our classmates at the reunion. He said that he would be able to let us look in upon those who were not able to attend our meeting.

Since I had been the class prophet, I was able to meet my famous classmates as they came to the tavern from the dedication of our new library.

Charles Scoggin came first. As governor of our state, he was as dignified as ever.

Frances Lee Faucette and Mary Boyd Rice came with him from his office where they were his most valuable secretaries.

Rodford Lewis told us that he was a certified public accountant, but he was better known for his music.

Lois Simon came from Hollywood with her manager, Charles Bendoll. She had cancelled a picture to come to Reidsville.

Helen Small was wearing a dress which she had designed and her hair was arranged in her own original style which had swept the country.

Inez Motkins and Annie Doisy Motley were very happily married.

Billie Betts was discussing the many offers which she had received for her book, "Love, As You Like It."

Margaret Burton had settled down to learn the dairy business.

Louise Thompson had given up her job as stenographer to marry the president of the "Clover Chewing Gum Factory."

Margaret Jones had retired from her newspaper work to live a quiet life in the country with her family and to write a book.

Ann Chambers was explaining to Mildred Harrelson, Reidsville's new commercial teacher, her system of cooking to music, which she used in teaching Home Ec.

Junior Daniel had become famous for his first man's column on "The Writing of Love Letters."

Tom Fitz was breaking hearts in every port as Lieutenant Fitz of the U. S. Navy.

Buford Griffin was a successful chemical engineer in New York.

Mac Allen had undertaken the undertaking business.

Syble Ellington seemed to be the typical young housewife in a new outfit of her favorite grey.

Margaret Glidewell looked just as if she had stepped from one of the many billboards where she is pictured as a model for Beech Nut Gum.

Evelyn Walker and Grey Waynick told us that they had finally made their choice of husbands.

Louis Wright was telling Minta Price about his successful new foods, and Minta was putting to practice her prescribed course on "Animated Conversation."

Thomas Evans had made quite a name for himself as a forest ranger when he rescued Claude Reynolds, Jr., from a forest fire, and Genie McDonald Reynolds was still embarrassed ing him by telling of his bravery in rescuing her son.

After we had met all of our classmates who were there, Jimmie hooked up his phatascape and began looking for those members who had not come.

Claude Gearge had been too busy keeping his nation-wide business going to come to Reidsville and he had refused to allow his secretary, Dorothy Haaper, to have the day off.

G. W. Burgess, Burnelle Cook, and Raymond Gaalsby, famous football coaches, were making new rules for football.

Margaret Byrd was making her debut at the Metrapalitan.

Ralph "Mante" Pearsan, radio sports commentator, was interviewing Buck Graff for material on the Big League players among whom Buck is outstanding.

Virginia Hopper and Elma Meador were attending the beauticians' convention in New York.

Lucy Kiker was starring in one of Broadway's big productions.

Betty Throckmorton could not leave her broadcast, "I'll Tell the World."

Jett Osbarne had to attend a dinner where she was to be given an award for her latest painting, "Horses."

Mary Meador was not able to get someone to take her place as dietitian at one of our large southern hospitals.

Helen McCallum, Frances Fawkes and Edith McClintock were busily breaking hearts and mending bodies as nurses at the same hospital.

Curtis Fitts had promised to make a talk on his success as a farmer.

Katherine Saunders was going on a second honeymoon with Paul Roach.

Kate and Ruth Trantham were both teaching school at Bethany.

Marie McAdams could not leave her basketball team which was trying to win the state championship.

Irene Washburn and Elsie Chapman had bought a string of dime stores which were named for their good treatment of the clerks.

Juanita Carter was teaching roller skating at Reidsville's new park.

Jahn McGehee had become a well known engineer.

A. B. Gilliam and Paul Tuttle were doing their spring plowing.

Mary Jane Robinson was scheduled to pose for an important magazine.

Obed Day was teaching at Appalachian State Teachers College and the kids wouldn't let him leave.

Ruth Markus had become Reidsville's librarian, noted for her ability to answer questions.

Betsy Lee Mayberry had opened an exclusive school for girls which was well known for its dramatics.

Annie McBride had given up teaching and pessimism for some lucky young man.

Mildred Payne had taken an important position as secretary to one of Reidsville's outstanding businessmen, Billy Anderson.

Billie Sheltan was attending the big baseball games in New York to inspire Jule.

Clarice Thornton was a model farmer's wife.

After we had finished hearing about our friends, we went back to the school to hear the rest of the dedication speeches. We all felt proud of our class, for we had helped to bring fame to the school which we had left fifteen years before.

—ELIZABETH PERKINS, Prophet.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of 1939, of Rockingham County, of the State of North Carolina, being of sound mind and disposing memory, and realizing that our school days are about to close, do make, declare, and publish this—our last will and testament:

FIRST: To Mr. Perry we offer our appreciativeness for inspiring us throughout our twelve years of education.

To Mr. Lipscomb, with heartfelt thanks, we leave our kindest appreciation for his never-dying efforts in helping us through this, our last year of school.

To Miss Baker, we express our most sincere thanks for her untiring help with French and the annual.

To Miss Ratledge, we will the love and sympathy of the entire Senior Class.

SECOND: To the Junior Class, we leave our title of Seniors, in hope that they will be as proud of it as we were.

To the Sophomores, we leave the courage to press onward and see their task completed.

To the Freshmen, we leave our determination to push ever upward.

THIRD: To Kathleen Cheek, Lucy Kiker leaves her "prom-trottin'"—with the assurance of many lovely week-ends.

Betty Throckmorton reluctantly departs with her incessant chatter by leaving it to Edgar Bray.

To Hortense Haizlip, Genie McDonald wills her pettiness.

Marie McAdams and Lois Simon leave their athletic ability to Elsie Maynard.

Syble Ellington leaves her love to Grey Pettigrew.

Juanita Carter wills her skating ability to anyone who thinks he can master it.

The versatility of Betsy Lee Mayberry is left to Charles Anna Price.

Margaret Burton's and Virginia Hopper's appetites are left to Frances Fogg, with the hope that she will not over indulge.

Helen McCollum's "knack" of being out of class is willed to Mary Lloyd Glidewell, knowing that it will not be discarded, but used to its best advantage.

Margaret Jones leaves her capability to Robert Rascoe, assured of its not being abused.

The lovely voice of Margaret Byrd is left to Anna Clark McDonald.

Our budding artist, Jett Osborne, leaves her sketching ability to Roy Stallings.

Minta Price leaves, to anyone who would care to use it, her little saying, "it really do not matter."

The beauty spot of Margaret Glidewell, which all the girls have envied since the first grade, is left to Marion Robertson.

G. W. Burgess and Raymond Goolsby will their athletic ability to "T. Bone" Smith.

C. L. Saunders' "slow but sure" way is willed to Jimmy Mobley, knowing that he has need for it.

Billie Shelton's and Irene Washburn's quiet ways are left to Frances Knight.

The amiable disposition of Tom Fitz is left to Chaplain Hall with the assurance of many new friends.

Burnell Cook leaves his superfluous weight to Bill Fire-sheets, in hopes that a few pounds will help.

The perfect record of Mildred Payne is left to anyone who thinks he can come to school every day for twelve years!

The cooperativeness of Charles Bendall is left to the entire Junior Class—use it to its best advantage!

Charles Scoggins leaves his title as "Best Dressed" to John Grogan.

The ambitious ways of Louis Wright and Billie Anderson are left to Ruth Ferguson, knowing that she can dispose of them properly.

The neatness of Elsie Chapman and Clarice Thornton are willed to Elizabeth Rice.

Buck Groff and Obed Day's participation in all athletics is left to Wendell Saunders.

Radford Lewis reluctantly departs from his "cyclone sneeze" and leaves it to Anne Chaney.

Mary Boyd Rice's hair is left to Birdie Jones.

Edith McClintock's chewing gum is willed to those who think they can "take it!"

The typing ability of Inez Atkins and Frances Faucett is left to Albert Menzies.

Curtis Fitts leaves his honor of being president of the Agriculture Club to Robert Stadler.

Katherine Saunders' "will to work" is left to each remaining student in Reidsville High School!

A. B. Gilliam's job as truck driver is left to Garland Shumate.

The Trantham sisters, Ruth and Kate, leave their love for the "football heroes" to Mildred Woods.

Mildred Harrelson and Annie Daisy Motley's companion-ship is left to Harriet Stadler and Ruth Ferguson.

Elizabeth Mitchell leaves her "ones" to anyone who is good enough to get them!

Ralph Pearson wills his energy to Billy McCollum—knowing he has need for some.

The dignity of Elmo Meador and Annie McBryde is left to Stella Chilton.

Elizabeth Perkins departs from her originality by leav-ing it to Kenneth Phipps.

Helen Small's coiffures, the envy of every girl, is left to Pauline Roach.

The title of "Best Looking," belonging to Paul Tuttle and Mary Jane Robinson, is left to Virginia Hook and Billy Lambeth—knowing they will not be offended.

The smallness of Louise Thompson is left to Elsie McKinney.

Jimmy Waynick leaves his ingenuousness to D. P. Hill.

Junior Daniels wills his ability of creative writing to William Hutcherson.

We appoint as executor of this will Mr. J. L. Holmes, and do set our hand and seal on this thirty-first day of May, 1939.

CLAUDE GEORGE, Testator.

WITNESSES:

ELIZABETH MITCHELL, President.

MISS MAUDE RATLEDGE, Advisor.

The Senior Dramatic Club presented during this year three dramatic productions. On December 16, HEART TROUBLE, a three act comedy was successfully given before a large audience. At the weekly High School Assembly on December 14, a Christmas pageant, which received much favorable comment from students, teachers, and citizens, was presented. The Club entered the State Dramatic Contest and used as its presentation in the preliminary contest held in Lenoir, JUMPIN' THE BROOM by Clara Mae Green.

In addition to these productions, the Club has contributed to the school a large number of costumes, a cyclorama for the stage, and other miscellaneous stage equipment.

ATHLETICS

MR. PERRY

Mr. Perry, former captain and All-State player for Elon College, has been for the past twelve years the inspiration and coach of the Reidsville football team. He has become famous for his successful football teams throughout the state. Due to his coaching and guidance, the Golden Lions won the State Championship in '30, '31, and '36, and the Western Championship in '34. This year Mr. Perry coached a very successful team.

MR. CULLER

Mr. Culler, a newcomer to the coaching staff of athletics in Reidsville High School, coached his girls through a very successful year. His team won second place in the county tournament. Mr. Culler is a former All-State basketball player and for three years was on the High Point College team. He was considered the most valuable player ever to have been on the team.

FIELD

Mr. Holmes, a very successful basketball coach, has been appointed to the football team. He has been an assistant to Mr. Perry for the past two years. He is a former star basketball player and halfback for the High Point College football team. He is also the baseball coach.

MR. HOLMES

Mr. J. H. Holmes is organizing a tennis team this year. This is the first time Reidsville High School has entered this sport, but under his excellent coaching, much will be expected of the team. Mr. Holmes is a former popular athlete from Catawba College.
